

A new report by Belgian organisation CNCD-11.11.11 exposes the systems that perpetuate tax injustice around the world and highlights some solutions that could remedy international tax injustice. Another report from Christian Aid makes the link between tax dodging, financial secrecy and hunger by showing that businesses that benefit from lack of transparency in trade and financial systems also play a role in exacerbating hunger: they deprive the poorer countries of billions in tax revenues every year.