There are no translations available.

DFI conducted a pilot mission for OIF to help Senegal’s government design a development financing policy to support the Plan Sénégal Émergent. The mission examined financing policy issues, including project design, the overall matching of projects and programmes with financing, and sources of finance such as tax revenue, international and regional bonds, aid, South-South cooperation, Islamic financing, and PPPs. It also looked at institutional issues of laws, regulations and coordination structures to support the policy.